Colin Snapp/Daniel Turner
June 30 - July 29, 2011
Opening Reception June 30, 6- 8 pm
Martos Gallery
540 W 29th Street

Opening this Thursday at Martos Gallery in Chelsea is an exhibition of new works by New York based artists, Colin Snapp and Daniel Turner. The two artists have been collaborating for over a decade under the name Jules Marquis. Thursday's opening marks the first time the artists will have presented their independent works side by side. Snapp will exhibit a new series of enlarged prints derived from a video shot while spending a month in the Hoh Rain forest. Turner, whom often works in a range of sculptural materials will exhibit a massive iron oxide stain upon the gallery floor. Based on the works the two have collaborated on previously, this exhibition should not be one to miss.
